HE BOUGHT A MAIDEN.

BARTERING A FAIR GIRL AWAY

How an Italian Lost Money in a Trade
For a Wife With a Countryman.TACOMA, Aug. 12.—A singular case was tried in Judge Patrick's court Saturday. Santos Cordova, an Italian, was the guardian of a pretty girl who he had brought from some distant land to his wife. In April Martin Patrick, an other Italian, appeared in the field and proposed marriage, but the young lady said she was engaged to Santos. Patrick then took her to his home, where he would care for his claim on her affection. He named $150 as a price and the bargain was speedily made. Cordova relinquished his claim on his fair countrywoman to Martin Patrick, who soon found that the sale did not fit the bill made, and the lady lay any claim on him. He then proposed to trade back, but the cash was refused. He brought suit, but the court decided that the trade was illegal and Patrick lost his money.

The Iron Duke to His Soldiers.

"Do your duty," were the words of Lord Wellington to his soldiers just before the battle of Waterloo, and history tells us how well they obeyed. That is what most people do when they live every living moment at this time. There are many who would do their whole duty in time of war or peace, but, when it comes to the care of their health, they would gladly risk their lives for such great occasions, neglect their families and themselves. They do not care to go to a doctor because they do not love their families, but from pure neglect, as an instance, states that the number of deaths from cholera shows that more deaths result from bowel complaints than any other one cause. The average death rate among men than one family in six are provided with medicines to cure the disease.

It is the duty of every man to take after these small matters, and protect their health, and then they will have the quiet of mind or continual carelessness, if they neglect to do so. No one can plead poverty in that regard. The cost of a good physician for the purpose only costs but 25 cents. The article we refer to is "Cholera," in the Montana Central is the Scenic route to the West. The following statement shows that more deaths result from bowel complaints than any other one cause.
